Scholarship Recommendations

Students are primarily responsible for identifying and applying for scholarships. They will need to search for scholarships and fill out the paperwork. It is critical that the completed application is submitted by the deadline date.

Institutional Scholarships are awarded to a student based on academic achievement and/or need, depending on the source of funds.

- Every college and/or university provides some scholarships (they establish their own criteria)
- The vast majority of scholarships are based on either and/or both the ACT score and GPA.
- If you have decided on a college of your choice, you should check out the requirements for scholarships available through the desired college and/or university.
- Most scholarships through colleges and universities are renewable scholarships, meaning these can be earned for multiple years as long as the renewal criteria are met.

Possible resources for outside scholarships are as follows:

- Scholarship file in counselors' office.
- Scholarships are listed in daily announcements at Logan Rogersville High School and the announcements are posted outside the counseling office.
- Utilize the internet (Example for Scholarships: www.scholarships.com)
- Check for local scholarships available only to LRHS students in March. These scholarships will be listed in the counselors' daily announcements.
- Check with employers (A number of companies provide scholarship money for their employees and their families)
- Ask businesses, community groups, schools and religious and civic organizations in the community or state about scholarship opportunities.
- Keep looking! The more you search, the better your chances of finding additional opportunities.
- Scholarship searching is a continual job. You are encouraged to check every couple of weeks because new scholarships come out often.
